Spain America who is bold enough to stand out against such opposition.
 There is recorded in history another example of destructive man-slaughter to that now mentioned. Agriculture in the country of Egypt, having brought to Rome the treasure of its large gold and silver overflowed in Italy; the bulk of which found its way to Constantinople, when it became the seat of empire. By that means Italy was left impoverished; the whole ground had been covered with gardens and villas, now desolate; and there was neither corn nor manufactures to exchange for money. Gold and silver became now as true in Italy as they had been of old; and yet the same town that had been poor, and not having plenty of money, was now so rich, which turned all
