D E D I C A T I O N.

To the profitable command of the Britannia, vacant by the death of Capt. Wilmot, I relinquished my unquestionable right, in order to undertake the delicate as well as dangerous voyage; to which I could have no motive, but the ardor of justifying Mr. Herbert's choice of a person most likely to accomplish the important design of You, my ever honored employers.

How I have by kind providence been enabled to do this, I here submit to the candor of the Honorable Company: nor could the reward, on which I rely, be claimed before the specification of the Service. In the whole, I have the honor to be,

Gentlemen,

L O N D O N,

February 1st, 1779.

Your most obedient,

As most devoted Servant,

THOMAS FORREST.
